PROGRAM STRUCTURE

WEEK 1 – SUSTAINABILITY, ECONOMIC DIPLOMACY, AND STRATEGIC DECISION-MAKING

Monday 6 October – Friday 10 October 2025

General Description

This week focuses on equipping participants with operational tools to understand and manage the dynamics of sustainable governance, economic diplomacy, and strategic decision-making. The sessions provide an applied introduction to the foundational pillars of contemporary global leadership.

General Learning Objectives

- Understand international regulatory frameworks for sustainability.
- Analyze instruments of multilateral economic diplomacy.
- Develop negotiation skills and strategic leadership capabilities.
- Strengthen institutional and public communication skills.

SESSIONS

October 06 Monday	Title:	SUSTAINABILITY GOVERNANCE AND GLOBAL POLICY FRAMEWORKS
	Topic:	An overview of multilevel environmental governance instruments such as the 2030 Agenda, COP mechanisms, and the Paris Agreements. The session explores the role of state and non-state actors.
	Learning Objective:	To evaluate the effectiveness of global sustainability policies and their implementation mechanisms.
October 07 Tuesday	Title:	ECONOMIC DIPLOMACY AND GLOBAL TRADE STRATEGIES
	Topic:	Examination of global economic influence mechanisms: multilateral agreements, strategic investments, and North-South relations, with a focus on tensions and leverage in international trade.
	Learning Objective:	To interpret global commercial dynamics and assess their geopolitical implications.
October 08 Wednesday	Title:	STRATEGIC DECISION-MAKING AND NEGOTIATION LEADERSHIP TECHNIQUES
	Topic:	A practical approach to managing high-stakes negotiations and crisis decision-making through simulated diplomatic scenarios.
	Learning Objective:	To develop leadership and strategic decision-making skills in complex multilateral settings.
Thursday	Title:	PUBLIC COMMUNICATION AND INFORMATION DIPLOMACY
	Topic:	Exploration of institutional communication techniques, public diplomacy tools, and counter-disinformation strategies in global affairs.
	Learning Objective:	To build strategic communication capacity and manage diplomatic reputation in the international arena.

PEACE LAB DIPLOMACY

October 09 Friday	Title:	CLIMATE-ENERGY PACT IN LATIN AMERICA: BETWEEN CHINA, THE USA, AND ARGENTINA
	Scenario:	Multilateral negotiation simulation for a regional energy transition agreement involving South American countries and global powers.
	Learning Objective:	To apply strategic mediation techniques in a complex energy-related dossier with geopolitical implications.

WEEK 2 – PEACE DIPLOMACY, INTERCULTURAL DIALOGUE, AND ETHICAL SUSTAINABILITY

Monday 13 October – Friday 17 October 2025

General Description

This week addresses the role of cultural diplomacy, interreligious dialogue, and ethical paradigms in peacebuilding processes. Special focus is placed on the human and spiritual dimensions of leadership and the rethinking of economic models toward regenerative alternatives.

General Learning Objectives

- Strengthen intercultural understanding in diplomatic processes.
- Explore the potential of interreligious dialogue in conflict resolution.
- Investigate regenerative economic models.
- Cultivate transformational leadership grounded in ethical values.

SESSIONS

Monday	Title:	INTERCULTURAL DIPLOMACY AND GLOBAL ETHICS
	Topic:	Analysis of cultural tensions in diplomatic negotiations and the operational application of global ethics in international relations.
	Learning Objective:	To integrate intercultural awareness and ethical reasoning into diplomatic practice.
Tuesday	Title:	INTERRELIGIOUS DIALOGUE AND CONFLICT PREVENTION
	Topic:	Study of interfaith dialogue frameworks as tools for reconciliation and peace, with a comparative review of successful case studies.
	Learning Objective:	To promote interreligious cooperation as a stabilizing force in global diplomacy.
Wednesday	Title:	CIRCULAR ECONOMY AND SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT
	Topic:	Exploration of circular economy models emphasizing environmental impact, social inclusion, and local regeneration.
	Learning Objective:	To design and evaluate sustainable alternatives to linear economic systems.
Thursday	Title:	PHILOSOPHY AND PSYCHOLOGY OF PEACE LEADERSHIP
	Topic:	A reflection on the ethical, philosophical, and psychological foundations of nonviolent leadership, focusing on empathy, service, and personal transformation.
	Learning Objective:	To promote a humanistic model of leadership oriented toward justice, dialogue, and collective well-being.
Friday	PEACE LAB DIPLOMACY
	Title:	BEYOND BORDERS: PEACE DIALOGUES AND AUTONOMY FOR STATELESS PEOPLES
	Topic:	Multilateral simulation addressing the Kurdish issue and comparative cases (e.g., Western Sahara, Tibet, Rohingya).
	Learning Objective:	To design diplomatic mechanisms for cultural autonomy and multilevel institutional solutions.

WEEK 3 – NEW GEOPOLITICAL AND ECONOMIC DYNAMICS

Monday 20 October – Friday 24 October 2025

General Description

This week examines the geopolitical transformation of the international system, the emergence of new conflicts, resource diplomacy, and the financial dimension of global power. Participants will be guided in analyzing current patterns of strategic competition.

General Learning Objectives

- Analyze shifts in the global geopolitical order.
- Recognize emerging threats to international security.
- Interpret environmental conflicts through diplomatic frameworks.
- Understand the economic-financial architecture of global power.

SESSIONS

Monday	Title:	THE NEW GLOBAL BALANCE AND THE FUTURE OF GEOPOLITICS
	Topic:	Study of the transition from a unipolar to multipolar order, the rise of regional powers, and evolving alliances.
	Learning Objective:	To forecast geopolitical trajectories and interpret transformations in the international system.
Tuesday	Title:	EMERGING CONFLICTS AND INTERNATIONAL SECURITY
	Topic:	Examination of hybrid warfare, cyber-attacks, and the role of non-state actors in shaping contemporary conflict scenarios.
	Learning Objective:	To understand the evolution of global threats and systemic security risks.
Wednesday	Title:	RESOURCE GEOPOLITICS AND ENVIRONMENTAL SECURITY
	Topic:	Analysis of global competition over critical resources (water, rare earths, energy), including ecological tensions and cross-border cooperation.
	Learning Objective:	To critically assess environmental conflicts and apply ecological diplomacy frameworks.
Thursday	Title:	GLOBAL ECONOMY AND FINANCIAL CONFLICTS
	Topic:	Focus on sanctions, speculation, sovereign debt, and the "weaponization" of finance in international relations.
	Learning Objective:	To decode financial geopolitics and state power projection through economic instruments.
Friday	PEACE LAB DIPLOMACY
	Title:	DEBT, DIGNITY, AND DEREGULATION: COMPETING ECONOMIC MODELS
	Scenario:	A high-level negotiation on economic reforms in Argentina and other Global South countries under IMF, US, and market pressures.
	Learning Objective:	To assess the viability and social implications of radical economic liberalization models in fragile contexts.

WEEK 4 – GLOBAL JUSTICE, GOVERNANCE, AND POLITICAL STABILITY

Monday 27 October – Friday 31 October 2025

General Description

The final week explores international justice instruments, political stability models, multilateral security strategies, and mediation techniques. It emphasizes peace governance and post-crisis institutional resilience.

General Learning Objectives

- Understand the strategic function of international law in global governance.
- Evaluate the resilience of political systems in critical contexts.
- Apply multilateral and cooperative security strategies.
- Develop advanced skills in negotiation and conflict mediation.

SESSIONS

Monday	Title:	INTERNATIONAL JUSTICE AND GLOBAL GOVERNANCE
	Topic:	Critical review of the role of international courts, universal jurisdiction, and the limitations of multilateral justice systems.
	Learning Objective:	To understand the legal-political functions of international justice in peacebuilding and accountability.
Tuesday	Title:	GOVERNMENTS AND MODELS OF POLITICAL STABILITY
	Topic:	Comparative analysis of government systems, democratic transitions, institutional crises, and authoritarian regimes.
	Learning Objective:	To assess the structural drivers of political stability and fragility in global governance.
Wednesday	Title:	MULTILATERAL RESPONSES AND COOPERATIVE SECURITY STRATEGIES
	Topic:	In-depth study of R2P, peacekeeping operations, humanitarian interventions, and EU/UN missions.
	Learning Objective:	To design integrated multilateral responses to international crises and conflicts.
Thursday	Title:	ADVANCED TECHNIQUES IN MULTILATERAL MEDIATION AND DIPLOMATIC LEADERSHIP
	Topic:	Applied workshop on high-level negotiation, third-party facilitation, and trust-building in divided societies.
	Learning Objective:	To enhance diplomatic leadership capacity in conflict mediation within polarized and fragile environments.
Friday	PEACE LAB DIPLOMACY
	Title:	PEACE IN FRAGMENTS: INSTITUTIONAL RECONSTRUCTION IN POST-CONFLICT SUDAN
	Scenario:	Simulation of a peacebuilding mission in Sudan focused on constitutional transition, justice, and national reintegration.
	Learning Objective:	To design inclusive governance frameworks for post-conflict institutional recovery and social cohesion.